1. What Are Cookies?

Cookies are small text files that are placed on your device (computer, tablet, or mobile) when you visit a website. They are widely used to make websites work, to make them work more efficiently, and to provide information to the website operator.

Cookies may be "session cookies," which are deleted when you close your browser, or "persistent cookies," which remain on your device until they expire or you delete them. We also use similar technologies such as pixels, tags, and local storage, which we refer to collectively as "cookies" in this policy.

2. How We Use Cookies

We use cookies to:

- Enable core Website functionality (strictly necessary cookies).
- Analyze how the Website is used so we can improve our services.
- Remember your preferences and settings.

3. Categories of Cookies We Use

These cookies are essential for the Website to function and cannot be switched off in our systems. They are usually set only in response to actions you take, such as setting your privacy preferences, logging in, or filling in forms. They do not require your consent and are set automatically.

3.2 Analytics cookies

These cookies help us understand how visitors interact with the Website by collecting and reporting information (such as visited pages and time spent on pages). We use Google Analytics for this purpose, with IP anonymization enabled before storage or transfer. These cookies are set only after you give your consent.
